Microchip Technology LTD.
Consultant program manager

Dear Program Manager,

Regarding the excellent work carried out by one of your registered companies Designer Systems of Cornwall U.K, and in particular the professionalism of the company proprietor Mr Ingleby-Oddy.

In late August of this year Designer systems took delivery a prototype jig, which I supplied after seizing it from another engineer following numerous work problems. Initially I was led to believe that the hardware required only a software program to become fully operational.

After a surprisingly quick assessment of the jig Mr Ingleby-Oddy pointed out that there were in fact numerous problems with it, ranging from incorrect hardware wiring to fundamental design problems. However, he was optimistic and only talked positively about solutions. I was surprised that he offered a completion date considering the circumstances.

Anyway, regardless of the difficulties that he faced Mr Ingleby-Oddy ploughed through problem after problem, returning with only solutions. This was done at a lightning fast pace with the end result of a finished and fully working prototype board, delivered on time! (All probably quite normal for him)

At no time did I have to chase him about the pace of the work, on the contrary, I was amazed at the pace, and prices were kept to a very reasonable level. In addition I was always kept fully updated of any developments.

I write this rather short letter knowing that it is likely that you are too busy to read through several pages of praises I could offer for Mr Ingleby-Oddy's hard work and professionalism regarding this whole issue. But if you have one of those annual award schemes then I'm sure he'll be this year's winner.

Many thanks from a very happy customer.

Mr Richard Kembry (Director)
